

Student's Wife Dies Of Injuries

The wife of a BYU student died Saturday as a result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Idaho Falls, Idaho.

MRS. DARREL (Myrna) Schneider, 21, was in a car traveling from Glenwood, Alberta, Canada to her husband, Darrel Schneider, her daughter, Crystal, 2, and cousin, a brother-in-law, and cousin, Gary Nish driver.

The Schneider car, north bound, traveled a southbound car and made a U-turn on the undivided highway. Mrs. Schneider "was leaning in the back seat and was thrown inside the car by the crash," which "took the whole side of the car out," according to Mrs. Nish, cousin of the driver. The accident occurred about 13 miles from Idaho Falls.

HER DAUGHTER suffered a fractured leg and will be in the hospital for three or four weeks. Nish and Darrel Schneider, 21, in the front seat, were not injured. Rex Schneider suffered skull lacerations. All of the group were from the province of Alberta. Mrs. Schneider is survived by her husband and daughter, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aldon Reed, Cardston, two brothers and two sisters. Services will be held in Glenwood, Alberta, Thursday.

American Space Effort Discussed by Scientist

The United States won't put a man on the moon in this decade, because of the many complicated factors and hazards to be overcome," Dr. Armand N. Spitz, space scientist said at Monday's forum.

DR. SPITZ, responsible for techniques used in Operation Snowflake and the development of the Saturn rocket, "doesn't lack money for this project, but qualified scientists and technicians."

He decried the psychological posture put on space scientists by the media, "to look like speculators against a deadline. He stated that the nation needs to be sane attitude toward the space involved in space, realizing each space shot is a scientific experiment, and there is no guarantee of success.

Belle W. Hales, 69, Dies of Cancer

Mrs. Belle Wilson Hales, 69, wife of Dr. Wayne B. Hales, dean of BYU General College, died early Monday in a Utah Hospital of cancer.

Mrs. Hales was born Dec. 11, 1893, in Malvern, Utah, and had lived in Provo for the past 33 years. She married Dr. Hales Sept. 20, 1918, in the Salt Lake Temple, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

WIFE OF THE president of BYU Stake, Mrs. Hales was a member of the Utah Stake Relief Society Stake Board for 15 years.

She was an honorary Golden Glensman president and teacher in the YWMLA for 20 years, alternate Mother of the Year for Utah in 1960, sponsor of Shoshoni Kiyel and first vice president of the

Best Drest Don't Need To Follow Latest Fads

There is definite advantage in differentiating between following fashion and understanding style.

Some women have been considered smart dressers for twenty years, and yet never payed homage to the whimsical dictates of fashion, but followed their own good taste and judgement in what looked good on them. Their hats may be more or less the same shape although they vary in color and material with the seasons; their skirts may remain the same length; and they may wear their hair in the same (heaven forbid!) way, as most becomes them, despite current "agitators" one way or the other. Often they are considered among the best-dressed women in the world, although they may not make the famous list because, while they have style, they are superior to mere fashion.

The basis of such superiority that leads to accomplished grooming lies with an understanding of what you are.

If you are medium height — five feet three or so — with small bones, the heavy, "masculine" fabrics and bulkiness of line will destroy the illusion of what you can be, no matter how much they are "the thing to wear." A well-dressed woman looks graceful and feminine because she dresses to the lines of her body. If the line from the hip to your knees is relatively short, even if you have moderately long legs and an average waist, you will look overdressed in heavy materials, especially with the large inverted or box pleats often seen on the new "brocades."

Most ready-made clothes are designed for the model figure — the long-legged, long-thighed, and long-waisted type who can drape herself in a portiere and look chic. The little woman, even the medium height one should choose clothes which have been scaled to her proportions, or she should have her clothes altered carefully to suit her figure, first avoiding too heavy fabrics and too dramatic lines, concentrating on continuance of line.

On the contrary, the tall, rangy creature should avoid the express opposite. Keeping away from too fine, too closely fitted materials, she should concentrate on bulky, rough-textured fabrics, and loose lines.

Auto Accident Claims Lives of Young Couple

The son of BYU Dean of Nursing Deulah Reen Allen and his wife were killed Saturday night in an automobile accident near Bend, Ore.

HENDERSON REY (Hendy) Allen and his bride of three months, Patricia Ouland Allen, were returning from Palo Alto, Calif. to Whittman College, Walla Walla, Wash. Both were juniors at the college.

Oregon state police said the Allen automobile collided with a vehicle driven by Charles Matheny, Bend, who was traveling alone. The two cars skidded on ice, causing the head-on collision, police said.

YOUNG ALLEN was a graduate of Provo High School. He was born July 4, 1942 in a Japanese concentration camp in the Philippines following the fall of Corregidor.

His father, Col. Henderson Wilcox Allen, died on the Bataan march. Joint funeral services will be held Thursday in Everett, Wash., and interment will be at Dingle, Idaho.

Potential Presidents Speak...

Editor Quizes Candidates

QUESTION: Do you feel that the editor of the Daily Universe should exercise his editorial discretion concerning campaign issues and candidates? Answers are by the four candidates for studentbody president.

ANSWER: REX ESTES — I feel that the editor has the right to express his views on all candidates and the elections in general as long as equal space is provided for rebuttal by the candidates that the editorial might effect.

ANSWER: RON ROBINSON — I feel the editor of the Daily Universe should represent the students in asking candidates questions so as to give the student body an idea of the issues involved. I definitely feel the editor could support certain sides of the issues as long as there is no personal attack.

ANSWER: RICH BOLAPP — I am mindful of freedom of the press and their inherent right to express themselves as they desire. However, I feel that under the circumstances of this election because of the fact that on this campus we only have one newspaper that constitutes a monopoly, this places the editor of the Universe in a position where he can control the results of the election to that degree.

I question whether or not this should be totally ethical in this situation no matter which candidate the editor may choose to support. It could be possible that the editor would be expressing personal opinion that would be prejudicial and not based reliable evidence.

ANSWER: WILL WHITTLE — The editor of the Universe should exercise the utmost of discretion concerning campaign issues and candidates because he is in a position of great power and influence. The proper statement at the right time can destroy or enhance a person's candidacy for office. Because all students aid in paying for the operation of the Universe, it then stands to reason that all or none should share its advantages. In other words, we must avoid favoritism.
